

Kim Manning

PR Director

With Taylor Johnson since: 1999.

People around the office come to me for: personally – movie reviews; professionally – I've been doing this so long, I'm a walking real estate media database.

When I was growing up I thought I'd be: a gymnast, I mean journalist. ("When Harry Met Sally" fans will get this.) Seriously, I thought I'd be a magazine writer in NYC.

Three words that describe me are:
curious, fun, creative.

Proudest TJ moment: It's a tie between seeing my pitch on international investors turn into a front cover story in the Wall Street Journal for MACK Companies and helping Englewood Construction accept its award for best construction blog by the Construction Writers Association.

Favorite Halloween costume: Bouvier sisters – Patty and Selma, plus Marge Simpson.

My guilty pleasure is: watching the Bravo channel. Jeff Lewis, Andy Cohen and all the Housewives (except Miami) are my addiction.

What I like most about TJ: the nature of our business. Real estate is fascinating.

Most people don't know that: I won a blue ribbon at the Illinois State Fair for a latch-hook rug during my days in 4-H.
