

Jeremy Barewin

Senior Account Executive

People around the office come to me for: Comic relief and to talk through challenging situations

Three words that describe me are: Personable, funny, genuine

Proudest TJ moment: Hiring them to be our PR contractor when I was with Cushman Wakefield

When I was growing up I thought I'd be a: baseball player

I never thought I'd be: in politics

The best professional advice I received was: Don't burn bridges and don't be afraid to promote yourself

Favorite Chicago building: John Hancock Building; I even climbed it a few times (inside not outside) for charity races to benefit the Respiratory Health Association

Favorite Halloween costume: I dressed up as a different variation of Forrest Gump for about seven or eight years

Last good book I read: 'Luckiest Man,' a bio about Lou Gehrig

On my playlist: Mostly classic rock, 80s music, and 90s alternative

My favorite app: Tripadvisor

Favorite pastime: Any type of travel

What I like most about TJ: My colleagues and the diverse group of clients I get to work alongside

The worst job I ever had was: I've been really lucky; I've never had a job I truly dreaded

Most people don't know that I: sell sports cards and memorabilia on eBay

My guilty pleasure is: candy, like the stuff most people eat as a kid: JuJuBees, Mike and Ikes, Sour Patch Kids and such.

Contact:
jbarewin@taylorjohnson.com